"PRINCESS S'NABOU!"

THE STORY OF A ROYAL WOMAN BROUGHT FROM AFRICA.

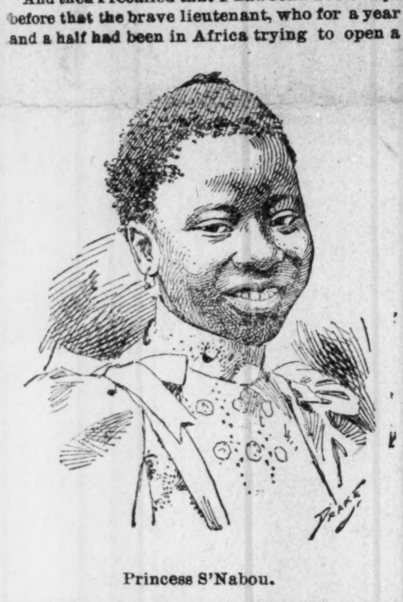
She Causes a Ripple in Gay Paris—A Native of the Niger—Will She Go Back to the Dark Continent?

PARIS, November 4.

THE Princess Sanabou! The Princess Sanabou!" I was passing a Paris hotel when I heard the cry. At that moment I saw a crowd of people about a carriage which had driven up and from which a gentleman was helping the blackest, curliest, merriest-faced little Negress I ever had the good fortune to see. She was dressed in a danty light-colored gown, made in the latest Paris style, her hat was gay with bright flowers, her boot were trimed and pointed. She was laughing, showing the whitest of teeth. She looked so jolly and so odd that in spite of myself I laughed aloud.

"And who is she?" I asked a bystander. The man looked at me astonished. "All Paris knows her," he said. "It is the little Princess Sanabou, whom Lieutenant Mizon has brought from Africa."

And then I recalled that I had read a few days before that the brave lieutenant, who for a year and a half had been in Africa trying to open a way for French commerce on the Niger, had brought home with him a little Negro girl.



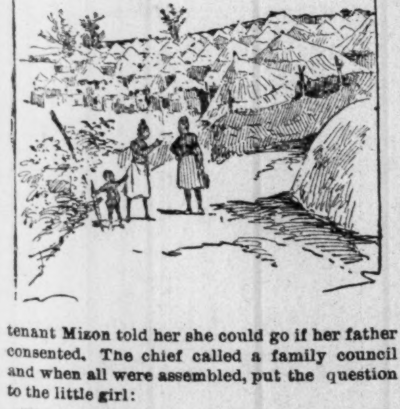
Princess S'Nabou.

Little "Princess" S'Naboy, as by royal courtesy she may be correctly called, since she is the grand niece of a king, was born thirteen years ago in the village of Igbobe. Her father is an Igarra chief. Kouanaki by name

When S'Nabou was very young her mother died. It was in the fall of 1890 that Lieutenant Mizon and his party started up the Niger with the hope of establishing French trading posts in the country where for nearly eight years the French have had no commerce at all. In the spring of 1891 he reached Assaba and remained there some weeks.

When Lieutenant Mizon prepared to leave Assaba and go into the kingdom of her great uncle, S'Nabou asked to be taken along. As she was eleven years old, and it was time for her to go home and be married, the nurse consented and the Europeans conducted her to her father at Igbobe.

But when it came time to leave Igbobe S'Nabou was not willing to be left behind. She again begged to go with her new friends. Lieutenant Mizon told her she could go if her father consented. The chief called a family council and when all were assembled, put the question to the little girl:



"Do you want to go with the commander?"

"I do," she answered.

"And do you wish to take her?" he asked the Lieutenant.

"I do," he said.

"Go together," was the chief's decision.

And so S'Nabou became the interpreter of the party.

As long as the party was in the forests, S'Nabou saw little to astonish her. It was only when she reached the mouth of the Congo that her surprise began. Her first real terror was a Paris doll- A little European girl who lived at the port where Lieutenant Mizon and his party were going to embark thought it would please the "Princes" to have something better than a mutton bone for a doll and gave her a beautiful talking wax baby from Paris. S'Nabou took it in rapture but when it suddenly said "papa! mamma!" she threw it from her and rushed from the room. It was only the repeated assurances of Lieutenant Mizen that the doll was not an "evil spirit" that induced her to return. On shipboard she adapted herself perfectly. Only one thing troubled her. There was a wooly black sheep on board. S'Nabou had never seen its like. She would watch it in wonder and silence all the time feeling her own wooly hair, and finally she broke out as if the mystery was to much for her;

"Me sheep? Me sheep?"

The two months S'Nabou spent in Paris were filled with all the pleasures Lieutenant Mizen and his friends could invent for her. It was delight to make her happy, she was so merry, so generous so comical. Lieut. Mizen started in August for another trip up the Niger, and S'Nabou went too, though very regretfully. By this time she, no doubt, is in Igbobe entertaining her African plamates with stories of Paris astonishing them with her long gowns her gay ribbons, the narrow shoes her strange ornaments, and perhaps terrifying themselves too with her tallking doll, walking dogs and jumping cats, which she carried home with her.

What will become of the Prince S'Nabou? That is hard to tell. As long as Lieutenant Mizen is in Africa she will not consent to leave him, it is certain ner he to let her, for she is a most useful and capable interpreter.

It is not altogether pleasant to think that when the mission of the French party is over, and they come back to France, S'Nabou will go back to Igbode and live in a hut with a straw roof, and again wear the scanty skirt and bright turban of her race. This is not a gay prospect for one who has been a "Parisian celebrity." Still anybody who has so merry a laugh and so generous a heart as the little Princess S'Nabou will hardly be unhappy long whatever comes to pass.

The Crack Base Ball Club.

St. Louis. Mo., Special.

The Clippers are the best base ball club Newport has ever had. They are composed of young men of about twenty years of age The captain has played with all of Newport's clubs and has won much noteriety as a captain and as a player. Second Baseman Owen and Pitcher James Spencer after touring the South have joined the club which makes it very strong. First Baseman Woods was credited with more base hits than any other player. Third Baseman Thomas uses the stick to perfection. Owen, Woods and Thomas are credited with six tripple plays something very extraordinary. Center Fielder Colton fills his position well. Left Fielder Norwood is one of the best left fielders in the state; he is also a crack pitcher. Spencer is a terror to all batters; Slaughter is another; his curves are hard to solve. Catcher James is the best that has played with Newport for years The second baseman and pitcher will spend the winter in St. Louis. Both are great favorites here with ball patrons, We hope to re elect R. Edgar manager of the club for next season, as all of the players like his management. Mr. Green is their backer.

The election over, the question arises how will it effect the condition of our country? We say take good newspapers and keep up with the times. Sow your seed in good ground, commence educating your children. Rev. G. W Faulkner has moved his family to Hickman, Ky., where he is pastor of the Baptist church of that town. Green Bright, who made a business and and inspection trip to Oklahoma Territory, has returned complimenting the country very much. He bought several lots while there. Did you hear it yes? where, in The Freeman. Buck Nard, who resides in Jersey vicinity, has been dangerously ill. A. Bullitt, who has been seriously sick, is better. Mrs. Cathorine Fields is sick. Charleston, S. C.

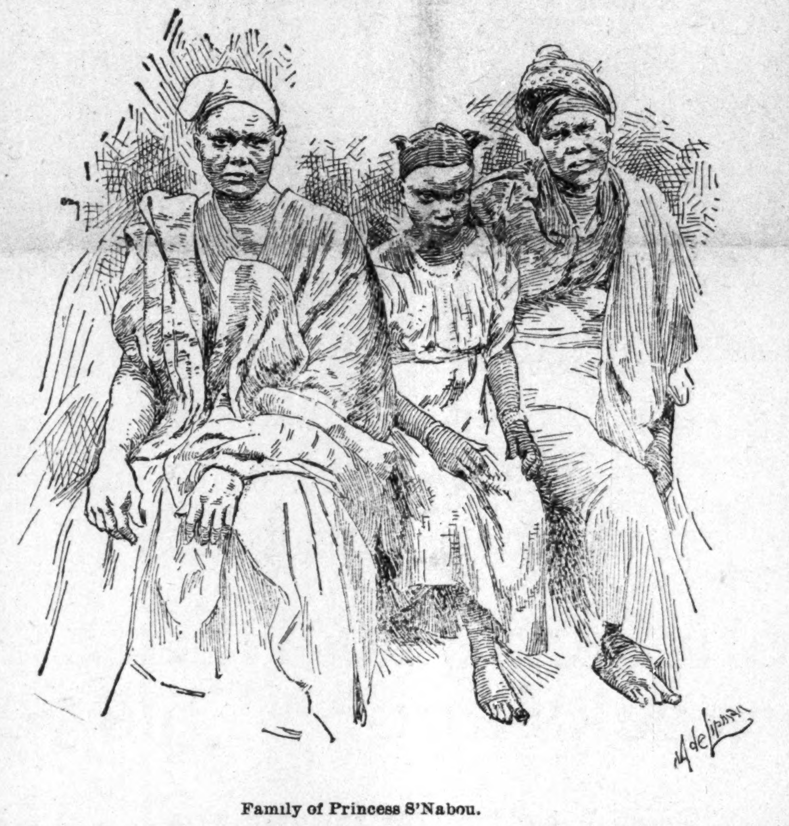
The last was the dullest election ever held in the metropolis of South Carolina. Colored marshals were at every poll, but like the supervisors had little to do. The polls closed at 4 p. m, State returns give Harrison 2 200 and Cleveland 36 570. Democrats showed little interest in the election as they anticipated a Republican victory. Neither party have held one mass meeting since the nomination of the presidential candidates. President Harrison never did respect the claims of his party in this state. One thing, Cleveland comes up to expectations, but Harrison never does. Our white citizens scorned the idea of having a Negro to take charge of their new and beautiful post office when it is completed and Harrison seems equally as scornful. Nevertheless the Negro stood by him and if he is deafeated he defeated himself.



Family of Princess S'Nabou.

McMinnville, Tenn,

We aimed to convey the idea in our last letter from this place that Prof, Jas. G. Meadows intended no insult to the colored people during the Columbus Day celebration. It was through a misunderstanding that things happened as they did. He has been superintendent of Mc Minnville city schools for four successive years and has had the respect of the Negroes. He has done more for the city schools than any previous officer and we regret the occurence.

Interesting Statistics

[Washington Correspondence of Cincinnati Post.]

A census bulletin recently issued giving the population, by color, sex and general nativity of the States, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota shows some interesting facts. The three States bordering on the Ohio River have a larger colored population than the three more northern States. Ohio alone has nearly three times as many colored people as have Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota put togethor. The three Ohio River States, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, have 191,058 colored people. Ohio has the most, 87,511. Next comes Illinois, with 57,879, and then Indiana, with 45,668. Allowing one vote to every five persons, Ohio can cast a colored vote of over 17,000. The Negroes of the State, therefore, hold the balance of power. In Indiana the 45,000 colored people can cast more than 9,000 votes. This gives them the balance of power in that State. The 58,000 Negroes of Illinois can cast more than 11,000 votes—a number large enough to give them the balance of power in that State also.

Southern Outrage.,

Dublin, Ark., Special.

Dublin is a far away inland town seven miles from the nearest rail-road point. The population consists of Negroes and "borbon nigger haters." the town has been solid Democratic for many years, but this year the Negroes determined to have a change and elected a Republican to all the offices.

Yesterday, election day, the sheriff appointed W. M. Perrymore, a life long Negro hater, as marshall of the day. He allowed his Democratic friends to electioneer any where they please, but if Negroes were caught talking to their friends on any subject he would walk off and slap their infernal hands on him and arrest him. He arrested L. E. Willis, a prominent Negro school teacher, and politician for simply shaking hands and talking with his friends. Rev, G W. Walton has excepted a call from St. Paul church in Van Brown. George is a giant in the pulpit and don't you forget it. He was a slave and is a self made man; but George is making his record as a preacher and a worker for God.

For God and Humanity.

The Congregational council held at Minneapolis, Minn., recently, adopted the following declaration:

"The National Council of the Congregational churches recognize with pleasure the splendid advance made by the Negro race in the South in the accumulation of property, the advancement of education and morals in the face of obstacles that might well have daunted a less hopeful and devout people, also the awakening conscience and growing interest by the better classes of citizens in their civil and political rights. But we deplore the continuance of the lawless spirit and acts of violence in many parts of the South by which they are the direct victims; a condition of society that renders the work of our educational and religious societies for the elevation of this suffering race and menaces the very foundation of our national existence."

"We, therefore, declare our sympathy with, and give our earnest support to the opressed of every race and class who are suffering in the struggle to assert their rights under the Federal Constitution, we also declare that our religious faith and political principles require that every citizen shall enjoy the protection of just laws framed in accordance with the spirit of the Federal Constitution, and that they shall have the right to cast a full ballot counted as cast without distinction of race."

THE BLACK MAN.

HIS RAPID ADVANCE IN THE PAST, NOT INDICATIVE OF THE FUTURE.

He Must Become His Own Architect if he Would Reach the Full Measure of Manhood—Strife for office a Harm.

AT this exciting crisis and in the midst of the deepest anxiety, and waiting for the true tidings of the results of our Tuesday's work, I beg leave and space to say through your worthy columns, a few words in reference to the black man. In but a very little more than a decade past, we were in no quarter of this grand union of states, considered more than chattle property and mere inhabitants. To-day we are classified as American citizens with rights and privileges, (so said) in common with other men, We pride ourselves at having made so rapid a progress in the way of education, higer civilization, more refined christianization and such other characteristics as tend to the making of a people grand. These are all indeed, praiseworthy features, going on toward the making up of a grand people. These are are blessings which have been placed into our hands, and laid at our doors by the hand of Him whose hand never tires while spreading its blessings unto the children of men. They come to us, however, through agencies, the chief of which we ourselves are they. Hence, to us belong the prime work of making for the black man, both his present manhood and his future greatness. And to do this, gentlemen, we must act upon a fixed principle, and that principle must be based upon an object more lasting, more sublime and more real than mere dollars and cents or even mere political office seeking. It strikes me, sir, that the world today is too near run mad with the idea of climbing up to greatness upon the unjust ruins of other men and other political powers' This sad state of affairs makes itself more pregnant in my race every presidential campain. Office! Office, seems to be the cry more and more as the years go by. We are inclining ourselves too much, toward the idea of having an office in spite of a principle. From the acknowledged facts which we gather from both ancient and modern histories we find that, that idea has litterally destroyed nations, annihilated cities and brought desolation and starvation upon the people. I don't mean to say that the black man has, or at least ought to have a fixed political principle, too strongly engrafted within his mind and heart to sacrifice it for even the highest office in the gift and hands of the American people. We are properly speaking nearly to a man when sounded to the core (so to speak) republican in politics' for how can we be otherwise, and be true to ourselves and honest before our fellow-men. But in the face of all these truths we know of many of our men who voted with their enemies simply for the sake of becoming, through promises more easily broken than pie crusts, an office holder in some future time. For my part, gentleman, give me an office in the freedom of conscience, and in the assurance of an honest duty done upon the merits of a pure and honest heart rather than the best office possible, obtained by disloyalty to my self treacherousness to my race and with no other than a selfish motive

We are to-day laying the foundation upon which our sons, even though they be unborn, are to build upon. In view of this fact, my dear fellow citizens, how careful wnought be about the way we vote and the principles we develop. For the race that is untrue to itself cannot be true to its posterity. The principles which actuated our fathers in the dark days of American slavery, while the rebellion was at its hottest pitch, to throw their unskilled powers on the side of Union and freedom being rather an instinctive knowledge, coming to them not from a knowledge of books and newspapers, but from God himself, is the principle upon which we are to abide if ever we attain to any real greatness before the gaze of any people, or party, of the civilized world. Its true, spite work may place a few of us high upon some unsafe pinacle of fame, to remain there only until the time for reaction of the same unsafe project, then to be hurled down and broken to pieces in such a manner as never to be mended.

CLAIRVOYANT.

MRS. MARTH, the world renowned and highly celebrated business and test TRANCE CLAIRVOYANT, reveals everything. No imposition. Can be consulted on all affairs of life. Business, Love and Marriage a specialty. Every mystery revealed, also, of absent, deceased and living friends. Removes all troubles and estrangements, unites the separated and causes speedy marriages. $1,000 challenge to any medium who can exceed her in her startling revelations of the past, present and future events of one's life. Remember, she will not for any price flatter you; you may rest assured you will gain facts without nonsense. She can be consulted upon all affairs of Life, Love. Courtship, Marriage, Friends, etc., with description of future companion. She is very accurate in describing missing friends, enemies etc. Her advice upon sickness, change in business, journeys, lawsuits, contested wills, divorce and speculation is valuable and reliable. She reads your destiny—good or bad; she withholds nothing.

MRS. MARTH, born with a double veil, is a seventh daughter, tells your entire life—past, present and future—in a DEAD TRANCE; has the power of any two clairvoyants you ever met. In tests she tells your mother's full name before marriage, the names of all your family, their ages and description, the name and business of your present husband, the name of your next if you are to have one, the name of the young man who now calls on you, the name of your future husband, and the day month and year of your marriage—how many children you have or will have—whether you are married or single; whether your present sweetheart will be true to you and if he will marry you; if you have no sweetheart, she will tell you when you will have, and his name, business and date of acquaintance. Clairvoyantly ALL YOUR FUTURE will be told or written in an honest, clear plain manner and in a dead trance. Mothers should know the success of their husbands and children, young ladies should know everything about their sweetheart or intended husband. Do not keep company, marry or go into business until you know all, do not let silly religious scruples prevent your consulting.

Madame is the only one in the world who can tell you the FULL NAME of your future husband, with age and date of marriage, and tells whether the one you love is true or false.

EGYPTIAN TALISMANS.

MRS. MARTH, while wandering with the Gypsies, obtained it, and now is the only one in the city who has the GENUINE CHARM. Although unprincipled women who call themselves Clairvoyants. Astrologers and Fortune Tellers, claim to have its secret, rest assured its power is too sacred to be in the hands of such artful women who would put it to bad use.

Reader, do you ever notice that some people seem to have good luck all the time, no matter what they do, they seem to prosper, while others, yourself may be, have such a hard time to get along, no matter how hard they try, they find at the end of the year they are no better off than when they started. This is because they have not the Talisman, while the successful people, in all probabilities, have been to one of the few genuine mediums and obtained one.

If you are unsuccessful in business, have bad luck, things go wrong with you, then you should have an Egyptian Talisman. This removes all evil influences, brings good luck, and keeps all trouble and sickness away. Do not marry, begin any business or do anything until you have secured one of her Talisman. It will bring back the runaway lover wife or husband.

WILL OTHERS FOLLOW?

The Home Brewing Co., Made an

to the fact that their immensely popular product known under the brand of

Will other local brewers make the same assertion thus claiming that they use no glucose or corn nor either of these adulterating ingredients in the manufacture of their several brews?

If so they would certainly confer a great favor on a doubtful and anxious public.

WILL THE REPUBLICAN PARTY HEED THIS LESSON?

In the idea of Victor Hugho, the conflict which ended at sundown November the 8th was not a party battle, not the mere turning down of the Republican party and Benjamin Harrison, it was the people of the United States changing front. For years the Democratic party had been ding donging into the ears of the people the idea that the Republican party had wandered away from the great humatarian principles of former days, and had at last become to be an handmaiden and servant of wealth and corparate greed, as against the broader and more crying demands of the plain folks, the under millions of the land. How well it has succeeded in its effort, the result of the late election must be taken as a pointer, and the most vociferous Republican bluster and after day excuse, will not suffice to change one vote that has been cast, or bring back to life one Republican hope, that erstwhile was as bright and rosy as a summer dawn, but to-day is a fleeing ghost along the shores of time With a bitterness that we never quite experienced before, we must admit that it is "a condition, and not a theory" that confronts us at this time. All is lost save party honor and good intentions, and even those two talismans came near slipping away from us—during the great Waterloo of November the 8th. In a word, for it is better that the truth shall be told, the people of this country after listening to our story patiently and respectfully, refused to believe it, and believed the story of Democracy instead. The Republican party went to defeat, not because Benjamin Harrison was its candidate, or because Grover Cleveland was pittied against him, for as an individual he is no better or worse than he was four years ago, when he bit the dust before the matchless Hoosier president, and seemed laid out for all time to come, but that the Republican party has been thrown down, kicked out of power, is not for reasons that hinged on the personality of any one man, but because when its opportunity had looked it in the face, it failed to be equal to the same. Listening to the cold calculating councils of such men as her Blaine's, her Quay's and McKinley's, who in a strangely narrow view, placed the life of factories above the life of individuals, she has for years been wandering away from the safe and sure paths of the party's highest, noblest mission and in anunlooked for moment, her punishment, long delayed, has overtaken and overwhelmed her beneath the debris of her own creation. She has sown to the wind, and is now reaping the whirlwind. This great nation great as it is, unbounded as are its possibilities for the future, will yet never be blessed of God, never be sure of its tenure of existence, until what it is in fact, shall conform to what it is in theory. It was the solemnly pledged mission of the Republican party to bring about this desideratum, and so long as it remained true to that pledge, and dared to contend before all the world, that citizenship in every section of the land, meant the same for the black man as the white, that human life was not to be a plaything and a sport for political gain, or to feed racial hate, just so long did the Republican party march to victory, and the God of battle was upon its side. But in a weak, evil moment, its great mission was forgotten, and ever since the day that Jas. G. Blaine, out of a selfish ambition, delivered the party that had learned to trust and love him, bound hand and foot over to the enemy of human rights, in his cowardly assailment of the Federal Election Bill, known as the first Force Bill, it has been compelled to fight for its existence, has been going from worse to worse, until now when it should be strongest and best, there are "none so poor as to do it reverence." Look down the pages of history, it contains no story of a once grand and glorious party whose mission was so deflected, whose plight is so sad and pitible. Ex Senator Palmer, of Michigan, and president of the World's Columbian Exposition, when asked to explain the defeat of the Republican party, said in answer:

"No man could have carried the Republican party to success. Neither Mr. Blaine, with his brilliancy and magnetism; Mr. Reed, with his great parliamentary reputation, nor Mr. McKinley, with his record as a protector of American industries, could have made up for the absence of a great moral or sentimental issue in the campaign. The lack of this was what defeated Mr. Blaine in 1884. The campaign was waged on material issues and material lines. It must have something more to inspire it than the bread which perisheth. There are hundreds of thousands of men who care nothing about the tariff, or who thought but little over the currency, who would be brought and be vital forces for some great moral or sentimental question, if involved. The party would have done much better if it had made the Election Bill, commonly called the Force Bill, more prominent, and I predict the time will come when that or some kindred measure will be the principal issue of a campaign. I have talked with several prominent Southern men, and they concede that the methods of election in the South, which in their opinion are a necessity, are having a debasing and a debauching effect on the minds of their people, particularly the young. They fear that when the necessity for thus protecting themselves against black domination has passed, and when they desire pure elections it will be too late, and what has been considered the palladium of our liberties, the bal ot-box—to use the politicians' phrase—will be in ruins beyond repair The demoralization upon this question is already apparent in the indifference with which Northern people seem to regard the neutralization of the rights of millions in the South and the frauds perpetrated in our big cities."

Republicans! mark well, and remember these words of Senator Palmer; "THE CAMPAIGN WAS WAGED ON MATERIAL LINES. IT MUST HAVE SOMETHING MORE TO INSPIRE IT THAN THE BREAD WHICH PERISHETH" But don't stop there, read again these other words and ponder them deeply, if you ever desire again to rise from the abject place your cowardice has brought you to; "THE PARTY WOULD HAVE DONE MUCH BETTER IF IT HAD MADE THE ELECTION BILL, COMMONLY CALLED THE FORCE BILL MORE PROMINENT, AND I PREDICT THE TIME WILL COME WHEN TH T OR A KINDRED MEASURE WILL BE THE PRINCIPAL ISSUE OF A CAMPAIGN." Again we ask, will the Republican party heed this lesson?

The Negroes in Indiana, New York, Ohio, Illinois and Wisconsin all went against Mr. Harrison.—The Agitator.

The Negroes of Indiana, New York, Ohio, Illinois and Wisconsin, with perhaps the single exception of a few in Chicago who were impelled by local reasons, did no such thing, but on the contrary, with a few rare exceptions, voted the Republican ticket to a man. Benjamin Harrison and the Republican party went to ignominous defeat on Tuesday's election through the treacherous back-sliding of the white Republican vote of the land, and the Negro, as usual, died at the party post, it may be, "unwept, unhonored and unsung."

Avenged.

If I should quarrel with thee, friend, and say
Hard things from sudden spite,
Be sure my sorrow will revenge thee quite
Before the passing of another day:
So give me way.

Seek not to check the madness of my course,
Such word will be a dart
To lodge and rankle at mine inmost heart.
Thou art avenged by mine own remorse
With sevenfold force.

Pumpkin Pie.

A doubt's been growing in my mind, and I've been thinking why,
With eggs and sugar, milk and spice, we call it punpkin pie,
For pumpkin by itself is naught—'tis cow food—and, by jing!
Eggs, sugar, milk ond spice will make a pie with anything.

How like a pumpkin are some men who are lauded in these days—
Somebody does the work for them and they usurp the praise,
Henceforth I'll make a metaphor when such a one I spy.
And every false usurper I'll call a pumpkin pie.

Whitelaw Reid might learn manliness as well as a good many other things from the head of the late Republican ticket Harrison is not whining over his defeat. There is nothing of the cur in him.—The Scimitar.

So he might, and the Scimitar speaks the truth of a fallen foe, when it says there is nothing of the "cur" in the distinguished Hoosier.

THE OUTLOOK FOR NEGRO DEMOCRATS.

Now that Grover Cleveland is once more the president-elect, and the muttered premonitions seem to indicate that there will be a pretty general house cleaning and sweeping out after the 4th of March, the hopeful eyed goddess of civil service to the contrary notwithstanding, there's a great rustling of dry bones commencing to take place in the ranks of the Negro following of Mr. Cleveland, as to where "dem" plums will go when tendered, and who will be the lucky ones in the sections that Mr. Cleveland will elect to honor. Outside of the fact that the Democratic party in its traditions, history and ideas is committed to the Jacksonian philosophy, "to the victor belongs the spoils," Mr. Cleveland himself in his former term of office made such a record of pre-disposed fairness and consideration for his Negro henchmen that much will be expected from him in that direction at this time. For while well informed white Democrats know that Mr. Cleveland owes the colored vote very little, if anything, for his second election to the presidency, nevertheless there was not wanting colored men in every State, of more or less local prominence, who did not hesitate to proclaim their allegiance to the Democratic party, and throw their influence, such as it was, in the balance for the president-elect. We have no doubt, as far as practicable it will be Mr Cleveland's policy to encourage a spirit of political independence in the ranks of the colored vote, looking to the future benefit of his party, by dispensing as many positions as would be fair amongst the Negro contingent who stood by him in his struggle. Among the prominent places at his disposal that are considered "plums" is the Recordership of Deeds, held at present by ex-Senator Bruce; the Fourth-Auditorship of the Treasury, presided over by Lynch, of Mississippi; the missions to Hayti and Liberia, to say nothing of numerous Consulships, and numerous other "fat" places and "sinecures" in the different great departments that have heretofore been held not "too good for colored people."

We understand that 'taint our funeral, and that we perhaps have no business fooling "wid de pie," nevertheless if Mr. Cleveland will permit us, we'll tender him some suggestions free of charge that may be of service in the near future, and save him some what of humiliation and explanation hereafter.

First catch your rabbit Mr. Cleveland, ergo, first make up your mind to "fire" without remorse or condition every Negro Republican office-holder that you find drawing government money after you get through with your inaugural business on the 4th day of March. In making your selections give your Negro Democratic friends a new deal of localities and faces. Don't make the mistake the Republican party has been making for a number of years of continuing one set of men forever in office, just as though there were not other men, of other sections belonging to the party, just as worthy of recognition as the old party hacks. For instance, don't fill your offices up with the same men you gave office to eight years ago. Give the young, progressive, educated, wide awake, get up and get Negro in your party a show, and compel the old fossils, back numbers, and party leaches to take a back seat, and be content with what they have already had, in most instances, far more than they ever deserved. Don't get it into your head that New York is the only State, for the States of Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Michigan contain the brightest and most aggressive young Negro leaders that your party can boast of Finally, and in conclusion, let the Negro preacher-politician, who pretended to be with you in your canvass, let him rest. Don't for goodness sake follow Mr. Harrison's example, who seemed to think his highest party duty as far as his Negro supporters were concerned, was to appoint preachers to office, and forget the men who bore the brunt of battle for him in the heat and weariness of the day. With these reflections, we shall await with much sollicitation Mr. Cleveland's next opportunity to "turn the rascals out."

WILL THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY DELIVER THE GOODS?

The Republican party has been invited by the people in a manner not to be misunderstood to take a back seat, in order that the Democratic party may occupy the front seats and private boxes for at least four years to come. How and why the American people, encouraged to it apparently, and backed up by the good Lord, allowed this unlooked for and unpleasant transformation to take place, is neither here nor there for the purpose of this inquiry as outlined in the caption above. In another column of this page, we wonder if the Republican party will heed the lesson contained in the merciless thrashing administered to it so recently at the hands of an impatient people. Our purpose now is to suggest on the other hand what will be expected of the Democratic party, now that the earth belongs to it and the fullness thereof, and the possibility of the goods being delivered. The responsibilities that will rest upon the Democratic party after the fourth of March, will be many and arderous, and just how faithfully and conscientiously it shall discharge the same, as it has sharply and persistently declared its intentions to do when given power, will go far toward settling the question of how long the power that put it in office will allow it to remain. For the first time in thirty-two years, they, the Democrats, have full control. Will they abuse their chance, and with no barriers standing in the way of their own sweet will, will they build for the people, all the people, wisely and well, as they claim the Republicans did not, or will they legislate to their own swift and condign undoing? The president is theirs, the senate is theirs, the whole bakeshop is theirs, and a waiting world stands tiptoe, open eyed and eared, anxious to know what shall the harvest be. Now that they have all the tools to work with, and time and room to work in, to squirm or turn feather the least bit, to even think of showing the white feather, would be to write their future obituary with their own unwilling hands, and scoope out with tearful eyes their own little graves. To begin with, just as soon as they can get at it with decent haste they must proceed to rip the McKinley bill up the back, as they promised the people faithfully to do, and in its place, pass a bill, having as its only object, a tarriff for revenue only. They have promised it, and the people will expect it. Following that let the tax on state banks, placed there by the Republican party be removed as soon as possible without unnecessary delay. They have promised it and the people will expect it. Let iron and all that iron can be turned into, all that can and is manufactured from it be placed on the free list without delay or remonstrance. They have promised it and the people will expect it. Following iron let coal come in for its place on the free list, and all of its relative domestic industries. Let there be no delay. They have promised it, and the people will expect it. Then there is wool, tin plate, woolen goods, hats, caps, clocks, watches, leather, and lumber, and their respective products, let their place on the free list be plain and distinct. They have promised it and the people expect it. And the duty that was taken off sugar, tea, coffee and other edibles that enter into the daily consumption of the people, let them be restored as soon as legislation can do it. They have promised it and the people will expect it. The duty on tobacco, cigars, in fact all the agricultural products, must be removed as soon as expedient. They have promised it, and the people will expect it. Oh yes, there's the Federal Election law, or any possibility that sometime in the future something of that kind might be attempted through legislation, steps must be immediately taken to nip that in the bud. If black citizens ever had any rights under the 14th and 15th amendments, among other things, the right to vote, and have their vote counted as cast, or hope to have sometime in the future, let such iron clad legislation be effected that such hope will never bear fruit, and citizenship in the South will always remain what it has been, a monumental fraud and delusion. They have promised it, and the people, and the few Negroes who voted the Democratic ticket will expect it. Such is a small list of the goods, that the Democratic party promised the American people, to deliver up to them if put into power. Will the Democratic party keep its promise, can it deliver the goods, and if so, how long will it live after?

EDITOR'S TALK.

We cannot conduct a newspaper on promises; agents, very good in the main, are sometimes given to this fault. It is better to pay as you go even though the amount be very small

This is not only the time to renew, but it is the time to pay every cent that you owe. Agents get behind as well as other people. We wish it to be said at the close of each month that not a dollar is outstanding from our large list of energetic agents.

In order that it may be brought to the notice of our patrons, our agents are requested to call attention to the advertisement in this paper as concerns renewals Too many of our friends have allowed their subscriptions to run beyond the limit. We ask all to renew at once if a continuance is desired.

We have concluded to discontinue the contest for names. A very large number has been secured and the persons sending in these names have been rewarded with various prizes. So far we have been unable to get the lithographs of Frederick Douglass for those who have sent in a sufficient number of names to secure that prize. All others have been provided for.

Not only do we expect to publish an honor roll showing the standing of the agents, but we expect to give a graduated list of prizes. Those who have a certain per cent. will be entitled to a certain prize. What is necessary, to be entered on this honor roll, is that not a cent of indebtedness shall be outstanding. We advise that immediate steps be taken to square accounts with our books.

A thought has occurred to us, and we feel sure that it will meet the approval of our numerous agents,—to begin at the beginning of the new year the publication of an HONOR ROLL of those agents who have done excellently during the last month; that is, we wish to publish in the last issue of each month the names of those agents whose sales have exceeded 1000, 500 250 and 100. We shall call this our Honor Roll and shall grade them according to a fair pro rata scale. Even a person who sells fifty papers will stand in line for first honors as well as the one who might possibly sell 1000. We are new working on a scheme which will equitably place every agent in a fair showing; in other words, the scheme is to give the small agency as fair a showing as the large one. What do you think of this?

The election and noise have passed away; we are now settling down again to the actual business of journalism. It shall be our aim to make every edge cut and to this end we request the services of all who desire to see a creditable newspaper. The Freeman has lost none of its superiority, neither does it intend to take a backward step; to prevent this, one and all of its friends must take hold of the wheel and push it along. Promptness in detail is essential and indefatigable work must characterize every one connected with The Freeman. If there is one deficiency we wish to be informed of it; if there is a correction to be made, you do us a favor by calling our attention to it. Ask yourself the question, "Where can I put in a word now and then that will benefit the publisher of The Freeman?" "What is there about The Freeman that does not meet entirely with custom or with journalistic reason?" After you have settled in your mind these facts, or conclusions of your own, write us. We are human and we know that to err is human. We wish to know just where we are, and whether we are meeting the expectations of the public by our excellence or whether we are failing in the publication of a newspaper. Many good things will appear in The Freeman from time to time; additional features there will be, some thing unknown heretofore in Afro-American journalism.

NEGRO PAPERS NO. 1.

WHAT THEY SAID BEFORE ELECTION.

The chances are that President Harrison will not only receive the one hundred and eighty-five votes conceded to him by Mr. Harrity in his crucial combination, but the sixty-seven votes of New York, Indiana, New Jersey and Connecticut, which will give him a total of two hundred and fifty-two votes or twenty nine more than are necessary to elect.—The Age November 5th.

From the West, especially, come encouraging reports, while New York Indiana, New Jersey and Connecticut, the principal doubtful states, are more likely to cast their votes for Harrison than for Cleveland. The manufacturing centres understand the danger they would be in with a free trade administration at Washington.—The Boston Courant.

The campaign at the North and West continues to grow in interest as the issues are discussed. Harrison and Reid—protection and reciprocity continues to tower above all other National issues. Cleveland and wild cat money find no favor anywhere.—The New South, Nov. 5.

Mr. Cleveland is perhaps making his last race for the Presidency, not that he is too old to become a candidate in 1896, but that it is enough for one man that he be sacrificed in two successive campaigns.—The Progress, Nov. 5.

If every man will do his full duty on Tuesday, the Republicans will be the happiest mortals upon the face of the earth when the sun goes down for we will have elected our whole ticket.—The Champion, Nov. 5.

Cleveland will indeed be very ungrateful if he does not recognize the large Negro vote which he received from New York, Indiana and many other states in the south by giving proper protection to the lives of the voters.—The Protest. Nov. 12.

The defeat of the Republican party may be a blessing in disguise; while we sincerely regret that many of our friends will have to give up their place to Democrats, yet we have never seen a man thrown overboard, who was worth saving, who did not swim.—The Southern News, Nov. 12.

The Plaindealer will continue its fight as before within party ranks against the leaders that are strangers to true Republican principles and thought that "business" was the chief and only issue of the campaign. Their failures to properly recognize Republican principles is responsible for their defeat. Let them answer to the party.—The Plaindealer, Nov. 12.

If the battle had been fought on a Fair Vote and an honest count we believe that the Democratic party would have been defeated. We believe that the great heart of the American people is true to the principles of full justice, to equal rights for all and special advantages for none, under the Constitution and when the issue was fairly and bravely presented has never failed to approve it.—The Age, Nov. 12

†—‡

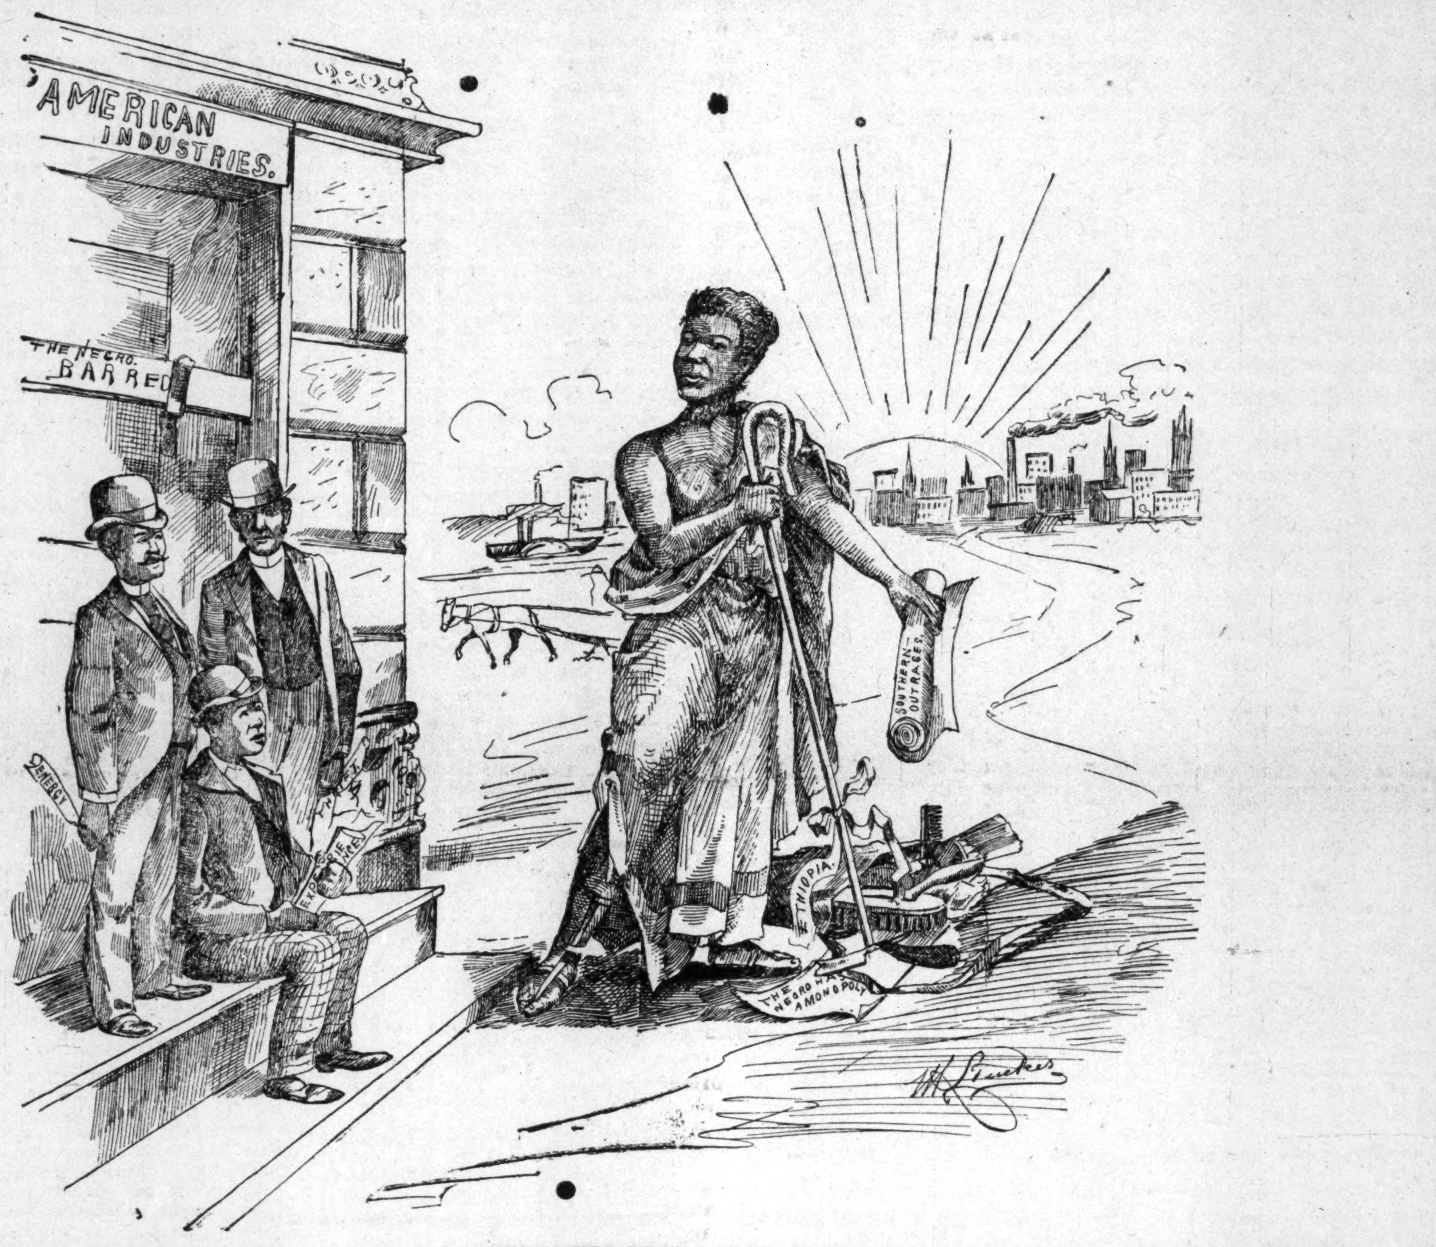
In commiting the government so completely into the hands of Ex.President Cleveland and his party, the American people express their confidence that the great issnes growing out of the war have been settled not to be disturbed and that questions of the tariff, of financial and current issues, domestic and foreign are of commanding importance.—Huntsville Gazette, Nov. 12.

‡—‡

We have been beaten, and badly, too. There is no doubt of this in anyone's mind. In 1884 the Republican party lost by pushing almost out of sight the issue of manhood rights, the protection which should have been the most prominent issue throughout the campaign just closed with such disastrous results. The experiment was tried again this year with an even worse and more unfortunate ending.—Cleveland Gazette, Nov. 12.

†—‡

Election returns all over the country are the source of sore disappointment to Republicans. President Harrison has been defeated of re-election after one of the wisest, cleanest and best administrations the country has ever known. * * * * * The party's politics, of course, and not its candidates, are at the bottom of the people's decision. * * * * * The colored man will cut a greater figure in every political canvass hereafter, and no party in American politics can long continue in power upon the demonstrated theory that the invidious and constant ignoring of the claims of any great portion of the national citizenship is either necessary, proper or politically wise.—The Statesman, Nov. 12.



BUT IS THE BATTLE OVER?

The battle on the "issue" so cal ed is over. Democracy is triumphant. Republicanism is cast down, but after all the great issue, the real issue, is as far from settlement as ever. What matters it to the Negro how warring factions quarrel over the protection due property when the doors of industry are closed against him, and the law of this great land knows him not in the protection of "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness?"

The Democratic Party's Attractions.

Written Expressly for The Freeman.

Demonstrations during the recent campaign disclosed the fact that many Negroes are affiliating with the Democratic party Now conceding to all citizens the right to act according to the dictates of his own mind, it is indeed astonishing to see how some people will, to use that right. If by voting the Democratic ticket a colored man enhanced his interest or ameliorated his condition, then, all should be Democrats. But after a retrospect, if they can still vote the Democratic ticket, they must be either anarchists, misanthropists, nihilists or imbeciles. For the Democratic party is little better than a National mob, for such is their policy at the South, and the Negro is the victim Twenty-eight years since a National conflict raged, the cause of which was brewing for ninety-five years before it culminated. When the slave owners agreed not to buy anymore slaves from foreign slave dealers, they unconsciously incumbered the slave traffic. Slavery being restricted to the thirteen Confederate States, it was only a short time before these States were overrun with slaves. This decreased the value of the slave and made slave-raising less profitable To remedy this the speculators wanted to open up anew territory or market for their slaves, thinking that a new market would materially enhance the price of slaves. This question was agitated in the legislative halls, the schools, the colleges, in the churches and by the friends, and aroused the thinkers of both sections of this country. It baffled the skill of Theologians, Congressmen, Representatives and political economists, and finally the battle-field. The North fighting to keep slavery from coming in open competition with free and well paid Northern labor, the result was that more than 4,000,000 slaves were emancipated. The act being accomplished mainly by the assistance of over 200,000 black troops, who seeing the flag of the Nation threatened by the demons of the South, the genesis of slavery, the composite of the Democracy, rushed into the very jaws of hell, as it were, to snatch the country from the hands of a gigantic and lawless mob, who had conspired to rule or ruin When these colored men were emancipated the Republican party clothed them with American citizenship The Democrats lived for 250 years on slave labor, bu the Republicans said to the Negro go free and work and I will pay you wages. The Democratic party raised little colored babies only to be torn from thier mothers at the auctioneer's block. The Republican party brought this to an abrupt stop and made it possible for the disintegrated families t reunite and fulfill the mission of their maker The Democratic party denied to the colored race the legal rights ef marriage, and forced themselves upon the chastity and virtue of the colored wife or daughter, causing thereby at very sinful consanguinity, then afterward sold their own children. The Republican party says, though they are your own children, held in slavery by their own fathers, their backs being lacerated by their fathers and masters, we will emancipate them and make you (the Democrats) pay them for their toil. The Democratic party said and so codified their law that you should not and must not swear in ceurt against a white person.

The Republican party says since all men are equal and one is as much liable to the lie or the truth as the other, therefore one man's oath carries as much weight with it as the other. The Republican party says since we are not keeping a pugnacious prize ring, if a man strikes you, be he white or black, carry him before a competent court and there we will fine him according to the gravity of his crime and guilt.

The Democratic party says we will trump up charges against the colored man, we will take them up on the most trivial pretext and hang them to trees, lamp posts and telegraph poles, we will flay they alive, we will burn them at the stake and ultimately rid ourselves of them.

The Republican party says thatll a persons are presumed innocent and guiltless before the law until proven otherwise, and that all persons should be tried by a court and jury and are entitled to a fair and impartial trial.

The Democratic party says after two hundred and fifty years of close relation with the Negro, eating, sleeping and cohabiting with them, that separate cars for the white and black are imperative.

The Republican party says pay your fare and take a seat where you can find one

The Democratic party says to the Southern colored man don't think, don't learn to read, don't pray, don't talk politics and for God's sake don't organize in political bodies.

The Republican party says think and act, learn to read, write and become men; organize yourselves in any political bodies, without fear of molestation; speak your sentiments upon the housetops.

The Democratic party says don't vote for we will count it in with ours, and if you persist to have it counted otherwise we will shoot you down.

The Republican says vote and be voted for, and have your ballots honestly counted. The Republican says come to the National capital when your constituents send you and help make laws that shall govern the Nation.

The Democratic party says stay away from school and college, it will render you unfit for the cotton field and cane brake, it will make you become manly.

The Republican party says go on to school and college, learn to be scientific men and an important factor in the further development of this country. The Republican party says, Johnnie! since by your bowie-knife, your Winchesters and your ropes the land is dyed with the blood of black voters, we must pass a Federal election bill, which you very incorrectly call the "Force Bill."

The Democratic party says we are in favor of free trade, we want England and all countries other than our own to have the rights of our markets free, it matters not with us how cheap may be their produce.

The Republican party says since other countries don't pay as high wages as we pay, and in consequence can produce things cheaper, in order to protect our people against this cheap labor, we have decided if England can produce a hat for $1 25 and the same kind of hat will cost us to produce it $1 50, we will put a duty on the English hat of 25 cents, thus making the cost of of both hats equal.

"A BLOW FROM AN UNSEEN HAND."

Give us the hand that will strike a blow
  In the open market-place,
While the well roused blood of the angry heart
  Inflames the answering face!
Rather than that sly, stealthy hand
  That aims a blow in the dark
And leaves like a poisoned serpents fang,
  A sure and deadly mark.

The tale that the smooth-tongued slanderer tells
  Behind her fair friend's back,
That grows and grows as it onward goes
  With the sound of the mill's click, clack!
The doubtful story set afloat
  By some secret dangerous band,
To rob a man of his fame or name,
  Are blows from an unseen hand.

Give us the open light of day,
  With the clear sun shining bright,
Rather than shadows grim and gray
  On the darker gloom of night:
Give us a hand that will deal a blow
  As a flint may strike a spark.
Rather than that sly stealthy one
  That aims a blow in the dark.

"Whoever expects to go through the world avoiding responsibilities and anxieties, must also expect to be a weak and useless part of the world's make-up; and that which is weak and useless, anywhere, is a hindrance and an obstacle. Miss Howard was to have gone to Chicago with the other lady managers from New York, but was left behind at Buffalo. She reached Chicago the morning of the 20th and feared she would not find accommodations, but Mrs. Corning went at once to the managers of the Auditorium hotel and secured proper recognition of Miss Howard's official position without trouble. Mrs. Corning says she is determined to have Miss Howard treated on an equality with all the other lady managers.

Women who have missed in early life the privileges and opportunities now obtainable in all phases of culture, will be encouraged by the story of Fraulein Crain, of Germany, proprietor of one of the schools for girls in Berlin. The daughter of an invalid mother. Fraulein Crain devoted her early life to the double duties of nurse and housekeeper, and at thirty-six found herself, not only without a family, but without a home, without means, and without sufficient education to pass the series of examinations demanded by her country from one who aspires to be at the head of a school. She took her final examination at forty, and began with less than a score of pupils the school which now has three hundred students, and includes a normal department, a kindergarten and a separate school for boys.

Toussaint L'Ouverture.

Toussaint l'Ouverture died in the prison of Joux, near Besancon, April 27, 1803. It is useless here to refer to his youth as a slave in the family of Count de Noe, to his part in the revolution of his people, to his proud message to Napoleon: "The first of the blacks to the first of the whites." The cause of his death is still a mystery.

L'Ouverture married Suzanne Simon Baptiste, a distant kinswoman, and became the father of two sons Placide and Isaac. The young men were sent to the College de la Marche in France, where the records of their sojourn are still to be found in the academical registers. After finishing their education, Isaac remained in France, while Placide, filled with more of his father's spirit returned to Hayti, to aid in the defence of his country. But his lot was almost as unhappy as that of his famous sire. While Toussaint was languishing in the cell of Joux, Placide was borne away to Fort Bilele where he remained, it is said several years. Isaac took up his residence in Bordeaux. After his release from prison, the elder son accompanied by his mother, went to live at Agen; where Madam Toussaint l'Ouverture died in 1815.

After the death of their mother the two sons manifested little love for one another. Isaac, the younger, even appealed to the courts to force his elder brother to change his name, However, he was unsuccessful.

Placide, despite the assertions of his brother, was received into the best society and in 1821 married Mlle. Josephine de Lacaze, the daughter of Joseph de Lacaze, a nobleman, once an officer in the Royal Guards and Currant du Parc. For twenty years they lived happily together, Placide dying in 1841. He left one daughter Rose Toussaint l'Ouverture, who now lives in the village of Soirac. As her uncle, Isaac, died soon after their father without children, she is the only living descendent of the great Haytian soldier. Mlle. Rose's mother followed her husband to the grave many years ago. Miss Rose, according to the Paris paper, has never married. She is said to be an interesting, woman, worthy of the proud family of her mother and the heroic race to which her father belonged.—Geneva Letter in the New York Tribune.

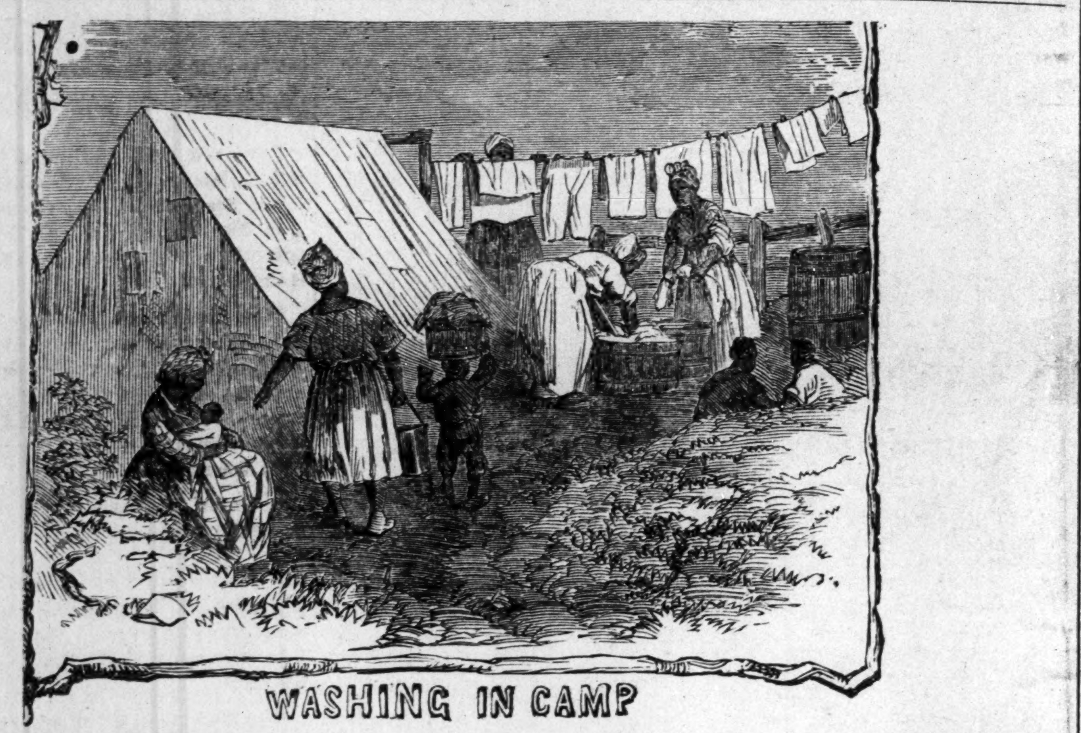
The "Good Darky."

Mayslick, Ky., Special.

Hon. J. R. Spurgeon, an attorney of Maysville, Ky., lectured to a large and appreciative audience here a few weeks ago. Rev. Thomas Brown is conducting a revival at the M. E. church with success. The meeting at the Baptist church proved a success; eight converts and several re-claimed. Rev. J. W. Daugherty, of Midway, Ky., conductor. Mrs. W. C. Allen is visiting her mother and relatives at Eckstein Norton university and in Lexington, her health is much improved. I get valuable information from hints in The Freeman. I also learn from your many correspondents that our people in all parts of the country are cursed by the "good nigger." He is in the churches, in the streets, in the bar rooms and, in fact, every where grinning in the white folks' faces and informing them at to what our people are doing. A number of these "good niggers" went to a certain white church to hear a southern evangelist preach last Monday night, notwithstanding, there were two of our churches conducting meetings and were greated with such tidings as this, "I have no faith in the Negro's religion; he will go to church and scream, shout, pitch and squall, and on his way home from church he will steal a half dozen chickens." That, said the white preacher, "is the amount of the Negro's religion, and he thinks he is doing God's service." Such sentiments as the above we are refuting as best we can, and The Freeman greatly encourages me.



The fortunes and situation inseparable from war, "cruel unrelenting war," are many and unique, sad and terrible. See BLACK PHALANX page 184, also advertisement in another part of this paper.

TESTIMONIALS:

Newtown, Feb. 17th, 1891.

Dear Sir—To those suffering from Spinal trouble, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Heart Disease and Rheumatism, I would highly recommend Prof. Boudrou's remedies; I was a sufferer of those complaints for years at times; was hardly able to move; could not straighten myself. The pain and agony was inexpressible. I doctored with several physicians for years, found but little relief, not permanent, until I was cured by his medicine. Of different kinds of cough and catarrh medicines, his is unsurpassed; would highly recommend Prof. Boudrou's liniment and medicines to all sufferers.

Respectfully yours,
M. T. VANARTSDALEN,

Doctored with several physicians; their medicine would for a while relieve me, but would soon lose their effect; by using Prof. Boudou's remedies have been entirely cured; would recommend his remedies to all those suffering with similar complaints.

Respectfully yours,

Henry Thomas, of Cleveland, Ohio, has secured a splendid situation with the Britton Iron & Steel company, at Milwaukee. He was a stenographer with the Erie railroad at the general office here before accepting a similar situation at the "Big Four" railroad freight office.

The purse and stakes of George Dixon won in the fight with Skelly, at New Orleans, added $17,000 to his winnings. The battle he won from Abe Willis was for $5,000, and his defeat of Fred. Johnson gave him $5,000. In the past four years Dixon has made fully $50,000.

Wm. H. Smith, the first colored man to be placed in a responsible Federal position after the war, having been made Assistant Librarian of the House, through the influence of Chas. Sumner, has been appointed custodian of the library and art gallery of the Columbian Exposition.

The suit of Rev. A. P. Miller, editor of the Connecticut Banner, against the People's Line Steamboat company, which has been pending five yeras, has been decided against him by the court of Appeals because he demanded his passage money and withdrew from the boat after the company's refusal to furnish him a state-room. Mr. Miller has already paid out $150 cost.

Elbert Head, one of the best known colored men in Georgia, died October 31st, Americus, Ga., aged 76. Up to the time of Harrison's first nomination for the Presidency, Elbert Head represented this congressional district in every Republican convention since the war. He was one of the 306 who were faithful to Grant in his last race for the Presidential nomination, and had in his possession one of the gold medals presented by Grant to each of those faithful supporters.

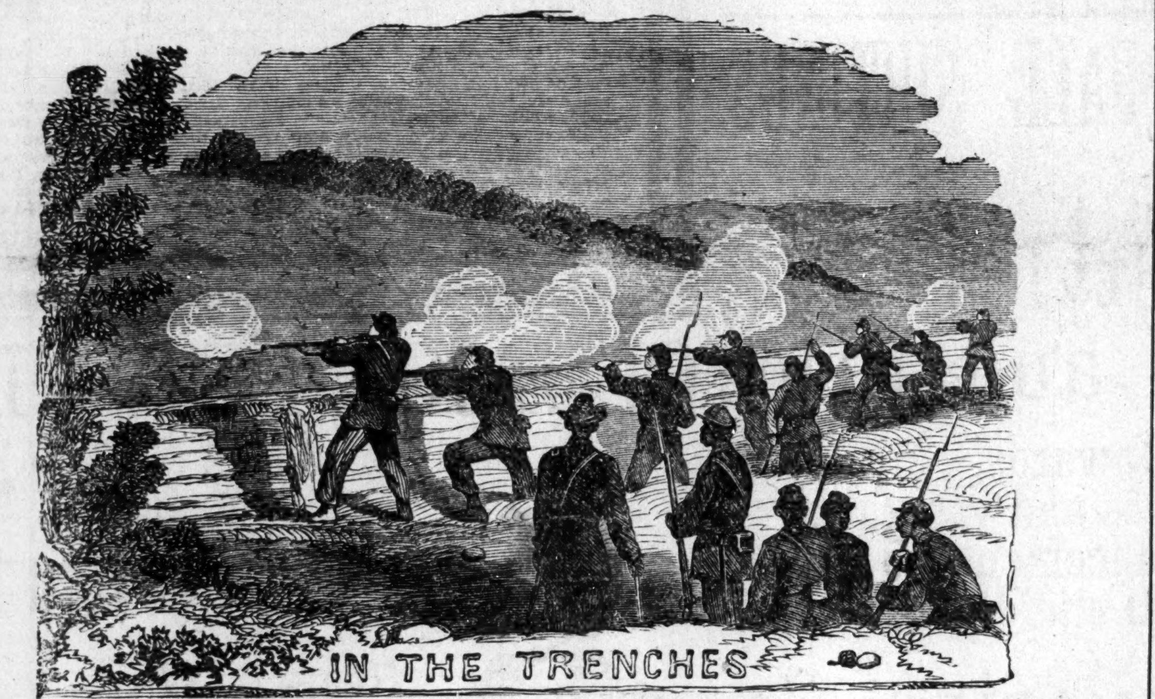
Harrisburg and Steelton, Pa.

Henry Bradley was taken ill on his way home last Saturday. Rev. R. H. Armstrong assisted Rev. Templeton in the reopening of his church at Reading last Sunday. There were but two colored men in the Democratic parade Saturday evening and seven colored clubs in the Republican. Sunday was quarterly meeting at the South Street A. M. E. Zion church. Rev. R. H. Armstrong, Rev. W. H. Marshal and Rev. W. H. Turner, of Mechanicsburg, preached. The collection for the day amounted to $50. Cards are out for the wedding of Charles Howard, the popular teacher of Steelton, to Miss Elcora, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Davis, of Williamsport. The cerremony will take place Nov. 24th in the A. M. E. church. On the following evening a reception will be given at the residence of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Howard, corner of Ridge and North Second streets.



The story of the trenches was in many instances the record of great suffering and privation. See BLACK PHALANX, page 411, also advertisement in another part of this paper.

A Much Named Youth.

Huntsville, Ala., Special.

Rev. E. M. Jones, pastor of M. E. church, occupied the pulpit of that church Sunday morning. Mr. Marshall Harrison is home from Chattanooga. Mr. Neal Lowe has gone to New Orleans, La. Mr. Thomas Mastin is home from Hot Springs, Ark. Queen Esther's Court No. 13 gave a delightful supper, Nov. 4th. Owing to an increase of scholars the public school will have another room and employ an additional teacher. Percy Lanier was in town recently. A. J. Hawkins has accepted position as head cook at Hoffman hotel, Bridgeport, Ala. Miss Mattie Sherman, after five months' visit to Monte Sano and Huntsville, has returned to Montgomery. Queen Esther's Court No. 13 paid the last tribute to Miss Callie Jones, who died of paralysis Nov. 3rd. Mrs. Mary A. Ragland, queen. Mrs. Maria E. McCalley, chronicle. Allen Flemmins is home from Nashville. The Epworth league was good, the short but instructive talk by Joseph McGill was beneficial to all present. The C. P. church has closed its revival. Rev. J. F. Humphrey pastor. John J. Kimp after twelve years' absence is home from Arkansas. Mr. R. W. Payne, Robert Lyons, John Fryerson, James Little, of Chattanooga, spent Sunday with friends. The C.P. church litterary was enjoyable this week. Rev. J. F. Humphy, president. Mr. A. J. Hawkins and Miss Lula Weeden were married by Rev. Duncan, Nov. 4th. Miss Pearl Weaver has gone to Birmingham. R. D. Dawson, letter-carrier, is in Limestone for several days. Peter Crenshaw was here recently from Decatur. Miss Maria L. Clay has returned to Birmingham to take charge of her school. Henderson Brandon and son are contractors for all kinds of Brick work, also sell any number of brick from their large brick yard. Every person should read the best colored paper in the world. R. H. Pleasants, agent and correspondent.

About three years ago Robert Nance, colored, a thrifty farmer living near town, had, by industry, shrewd management and economic living, accumulated a little wealth. He bought from Messrs. Newman, Boyd & Cruse 194 acres of land, paying a larger portion of the amount down in cash. Since that time he has continued to work hard and each year made a deferred payment on the remainder of his indebtedness; he has also bought several head of stock and his farm is amply and well supplied with agricultural implements. He is an honest and respectable colored man and has many white friends who would render him any kind of aid should he need it.

We wish Madison county had more such colored men as Robert Nance. About a year ago his wife presented him with a baby boy, and as he esteemed so highly and does so now his true friends, the members of the above named real estate firm, he suggested to his wife to name the boy Newman Boyd Cruse Nance, and so it was done. Boyd and Cruse alternate in sending their namesake presents.

Death of a Prominent Citizen.

Americus, Ga., Special.

The richest colored man in the State of Georgia is dead. His name is Elbert Head. Three thousand people attended the funeral, both colored and white. Mr. Head was one of the oldest and most respected citizens of Americus. The funeral procession was fully two miles long, including several secret orders. Services were held at the A. M. E. church, conducted by Rev. G. H. Dwell, of Augusta; assisted by Rev. W. C. Banton, pastor of the church of which the deceased had long been a member. The deceased was a Royal Arch Mason, and the lodge of which he was a member, headed the procession. He was 76 years old. The greater part of his life had been spent in Americus. He had amassed a considerable fortune. His estate is said to be worth $100,000. About October 1st he made a will in favor of Joseph Dismuke, a colored lawyer, whom he educated. Miss Catherine Head, his deceased wife's niece, and B. J. Head, his former master. To Mr. Dismuke he bequeathed $500; to his former master (white) $500; the remainder of his real and personal property to Miss Catherine Head. In the city election here no colored man was allowed to vote in the primary, though a colored man must pay taxes on $500 worth of property he is not allowed to vote, while a white man who don't pay a cent is allowed to vote. We have no objections to a Democratic primary, but when we have city elections where no politics are involved, merely a question of electing the best men to govern the city we should be recognized. We are all equally interested in municipal government. Don't forget when you get sick that Dr. J. D. Ball is still in the city; he equals the best doctors in the state. Miss Hattie Norris, of Charleston, of S. C., who is visiting here, has been called to the principalship of the Cordele city school. O. H. Russell, Chas. J. Russell, T. H. Hopkins, B. W. Warren and a number of others attended the fair at Macon and report a good time. W. H. Barnett spent several days in Columbus at the fair. Miss Sadie Warfield, of Savannah, a niece of D. C. Robinson, is visiting here. Prof. H. W. Lambert will soon take the principalship of Abbeville school. Miss Annie Wright will soon leave for Washington, D. C.

Pugsley Brothers.

Winchester, Va., Special.

T. T. Brannon left Winchester Saturday night for Berkley Springs to vote. His daughter, Miss M. V. Brannon, is attending Harpers' Ferry College. H. H. Hunt, a Hoosier boy, was in the city with the Tennessee Warblers. Mr. Hunt has a fine voice. The company consisted of the following. They are considered the finest troupe that ever visited our city: L. E. Pugsley, C. H. Pugsley, M. W. Daniels, W. H. Hunt, R. N. Shelton and R. C. Pugsley. The Republican National Campaign Club met on the 4th inst.; house was called to order by Chairman C. L. Magruder, after which Master Hayes Brown introduced The Freeman and read a few items. Messrs. W. H. Barlett, C. Howard, C. L. Magruder, T. T. Brown and R. P. Hall made interesting speeches. On November 4th the club went to Leetown to meet with the Leetown club. The address were made by Messrs. W. H. Bartlett, C. S. Magruder, Rev. J. C. Newman, A. Stevenson, of Winchester, Va., and Messrs. Jones, Robinson and Garner, of Leetown, Va.

Bessemer, Ala.

There was a grand time had at the young Poeple's literary society last Tuesday evening. The question: Resolved, That woman shall be educated as highly as man, was debated and won by the affirmative. Among our prominent young men are S. Hicker, one of Bessemer's leading tonsorial artists, a stanch friend of The Freeman, and Dr. A. McBrown, an old Cleveland boy who is doing well in his profession.

Teachers' Association.

Carthage, Mo., Special.

The fifth session of the Southwestern Teachers' Association met here Nov. 5th. There were fewer teachers present than expected. The Association was largely attended by the citizens and many people from neighboring towns. President A. W. Freeman called the meeting to order. W. L. Blake delivered the Welcome address. The program was interesting. J. M. Davis, one of the most faithful workers of the Association, was present. Much credit is due Messrs. R. A. Byrd, James Clendenon and S. S. Frost, Misses V. P. Sydnor Tennie Young and Mrs. H. C. Knaves for the preparation they had made to entertain the Association. Our meeting was very much interrupted by the grand parade, which was the greatest ever witnessed in this part of the State. New officers elected are as follows: W. L. Blake, pres.; J. M. Davis, vice-pres.; Miss L. L. Elmore, sec'y; N. T. Green, ass't sec'y; A. W. Freeman, treas. The next session will be held at Joplin the first Saturday in April, 1892. The evening program was interesting. It is to be hoped the Association will meet in Carthage again when there are not so many other attractions in the city. J. M. Davis offered a resolution thanking the Carthagenians for their kindness. The meeting adjourned to meet at Joplin in April.

Harrison-Wood.

Fulton, Ky., Special.

The Rev. Z. Harrison, of Fulten, Ky., and Miss Sallie Wood, of Marion, Ky., were married October 22nd at the bride's home at Marion, Ky. They left Marion on the 24th ult. and arrived in Fulton on the 25th, where a grand reception awaited them, given by the members and friends of the F. B. church (of which the groom is pastor.) Refreshments were served in abundance. The decoration of the church was beautiful and decorously arranged. Music was furnished by Prof. Davenport, formerly of Bowling Green, Ky., now of Union City, Tenn. Many valuable presents were given.

Columbus describes the landing on San Salvador Oct. 14, 1492.

We could saile nearly close to the coaste. Ye shipper hove to and we rode at anchor at a distance of two stones' throw from ye lande, and then I did give ye order that ye whole crewe shoulde clothe themselves in their best garments and put on theyre full uniforms. Thys order they did obeye with the greatest willingnesse and delighte.

I dressed myselfe in best parade uniform and with alle my decorations as admiral and viceroy in order that I might take possession of ye newely discovered land solemnlie and formally in ye name of ye Spanish Crowne. When alle were dressed I did unfold ye Spanish flag and hadde ye boates lowered and ye gangwaye let downe.

All embarked in ye boates except a few who stayed behind as guards to take care of the shippe.

I kept standing upright in ye bote with ye flag in myne hand, and then gave ye signale for landing.

TO SUFFERERS FROM CATARRH.

IF THOU ART DEAF, SEE! IF THOU ART DUMB, HEAR! IF THOU ART BLIND, LISTEN!

THERE IS A CURE!

Catarrh Leads On to That Killing Disease, Consumption.

There can be no question that Catarrh is the most prevalent as well as the most dangerous disease in its results that is found in this country to-day. There are several reasons why the disease is so much more common in this country than in Europe and the countries to the south of us. The most important ones are our dry, irritating atmosphere, and the sudden changes in our climate. These causes, together with predispositions, are so powerful that in some parts of the United States and Canada two out of every five adults are confirmed victims of the disease. There is another fact equally plain to the unfortunate victims of Catarrh who have invested money in so-called Catarrh remedies, and that is that these "catarrh cures" do not cure. We grant that many of them give a little relief in some cases, but we appeal to any victim of the disease to state if they know of a case of bad Catarrh permanently cured by the "treatments" heretofore on the markets. Perhaps, gentle reader, you have tried these specifics, first one and then another, and at last, in despair and disgust, have given up the treatment altogether, and have resolved to suffer in silence.

And what sufferers the victims of Catarrh are! To be forever hawking and snuffing; to be a nuisance to yourself and an object of pity or disgust to others; to feel the continual oozing of slime down the back of your throat, and to know that, day by day, this foul substance is steadily making its way into either your lungs or your stomach; to be deprived of that wondrous fifth sense, the power of smell, so that to you the sweet odors of field and garden are denied, and likewise the power to detect and avoid dangerous gases. All this makes the lot of the victim of Catarrh a sorry one. This is bad enough, but there is yet something worse. Catarrh untreated may, and often does, lead to that worst of all forms of Catarrh—ozena, or dry catarrh—that form of the disease where such carrion-like odors come from the breath that the unfortunate victim of the disease is a social outcast, tolerated in society only by his friends, and then under protest and with barely concealed disgust.

Fortunately or unfortunately, we hardly know which, the victim of the latter form of the disease is usually not aware that he or she has Catarrh at all, and of course does not dream of the dreadful odors that laden the breath. There is no discharge from the nose in these cases (would there were); no running in the throat; occasionally there may be a scab or crust detached and discharged, and that is all the victim notices. But the nasal cavities and chambers in the head are virtual cess-pools that poison every breath of air passing into the lungs and every breath that comes forth. Is it to be wondered at that the victim of such a disease becomes at length morose, gloomy and debilitated, unable to work or enjoy the good and pleasant things of life? And is it to be wondered at if the continual inhalation of poison-laden air into the lungs finally lays the foundation for that dread scourge, Consumption?

If by any means such a disease as Catarrh can be radically cured, is it not our duty to lay before a long-suffering public the means of cure?

Catarrh Germ Killer is the name our guaranteed Catarrh Cure goes by. The best scientists tell us that Catarrh is caused by MICROBES OR GERMS. The microbes are in the air we breathe, and they take root away up the nose. There they multiply, and as the germs increase the disease increases. Our Catarrh Germ Killer cures Catarrh by KILLING THE GERMS WHICH PRODUCE THE DISEASE. It is in the form of a powder, and when applied up the nostrils comes in direct contact with the microbes and KILLS them. It gradually decreases the inflammation, and a cure is effected speedily and surely. The only rational way to cure Catarrh is to kill the germs. Other remedies merely FEED THE MICROBES. They do good for a little while, but ultimately INCREASE THE DISEASE. The price of our CATARRH GERM KILLER is One Dollar a package. One package generally effects a cure.

See here, friend! We don't want your money if our CATARRH GERM KILLER does not effect a cure in your case after a thorough trial. We are a responsible firm, and we can cure you if you are willing to be cured. We know that if we cure you you will be a friend to our remedy ever afterward, and you will recommend our Catarrh Germ Killer to your friends. We are spending more than $5,000 a week in advertising our remedy. Surely no unreliable remedy would be advertised so extensively and steadily.

Hark! Hear Ye! No other firm on this earth is making this wonderful remedy. Some cheap pretenders are advertising a worthless remedy which they say is "just as good" as ours. They undertake to furnish their medicine at just half the price of ours. THE TRUTH IS, no small-fry firm could, even if they possessed our formula, make and sell it at the price we charge. Its manufacture is accomplished at a very great expense. The medicines used, which are entirely harmless, are especially imported by us, and only the best skilled chemists can compound it properly. We give steady employment to more than one hundred persons in our laboratory and shipping rooms. The prescription is known to us alone, and we will rigidly prosecute any firm or person that palms off their remedy as ours. Money can be sent to us safely by Registered Letter, Postoffice or Express Money Order. To oblige our friends in small towns, we will accept one-cent stamps, but to the price of one package only. Make all remittances payable to, and address plainly, THE GOOD HEALTH CO. (Paid in Capital $50,000), 219 and 221 Third Avenue, Chicago, Ill.
